How Wimbledon Guild Grief Support Can Help You

The death of someone close, whether it is a partner, relative or friend, can leave us overwhelmed and struggling to make sense of the world.

Grief Support is a warm and confidential space where you can talk and begin to put the pieces back together.

We can visit you in your home or meet at our base in central Wimbledon. Working together we help you to cope with your loss and consider what support is available.

Our service is supported by the NHS. We also offer links to Talking Therapy and further support services. Many who have accessed our service have said it has helped them to bear their grief.

If you think you, or someone you know, may need this help, you can call us for a confidential chat: 020 8946 0735 or email: griefsupport@wimbledonguild.co.uk
